

Tips for Planning Your Vacation

To make the most out of your time while on vacation, I highly recommend planning it out. I plan out almost every vacation I have gone on, even day trips!

1) Choose your destination.

2) Decide how many days you will be on vacation, and determine the dates.

3) Book your flight or transportation to the destination.

- a) I typically like to book my flight first, as usually there are many options for overnight hotel stays, and less options for flights. You can usually reschedule your flight too, just make sure you read up about it first.

4) Book your hotel room or AirBNB, and car rental if needed.

5) Start an itinerary.

- a) Use a blank itinerary like this one that I created. It can help you to organize your time.

6) Do research on what to do in each location you are going to, and where to eat.

- a) You can use my blog, BMore Rosie, and others' blogs to get as much information as possible.
- b) Write the information down on the itinerary. More ideas are better than none.

7) Make a packing list.

- a) More likely than not you will be going to a place where if you forget something, you can get it at a local store. But, you can use one of these packing lists to give you some peace of mind and get you started on it.

Get out and explore!!
